1. We still find many names of the gods and goddesses used today. Can you think of some areas where you've heard their names mentioned?
2. The Romans had so many gods and goddesses that even their own citizens did not know the names of them all. Every civilization that the Romans came in contact with, they ended up adopting their gods along with the ones they already had established. With that being the case, why did the Romans not tolerate the early Christians?
