Essay: Answer the following questions using three to five sentences.

1. Why did God confuse man's language and disperse mankind across the face of the earth?

After the flood, God had commanded man to fill the earth and multiply, but man disobeyed and remained in the region of Sumer. There they began a civilization in rebellion against God. God in turn confused their language to restrain sin and to slow the growth of human power.

2. Why did God send the Flood and how much did man learn from the experience?

The earth was so filled with evil that it grieved God, and in His justice, he could no longer tolerate it. Man, however, did not learn anything from the experience and sin began to soon regain its control of man.
